05 GETTING STARTED

Eligibility, admission steps, scholarships and FAQs.

From the event floor to the university.

It is rare for a businessman from the industry to write a university course. It is rarer still for a government university to approve it and start the programme at his request.

Founder Nisar Aboobacker has spent 15 years running weddings and events in India and the UAE. He wrote the Wedmin course from that experience. Mangalore University's experts studied it, added to it and refined it, and the Academic Council approved it.

Wedmin students do not just study events. They learn from someone who has run them.

Taught by people who run events

Industry trainers from hotels, event companies and travel firms.

Real events, not role-play

Practical camps of about 1,000 students, in teams of 100 led by students.

A mentor for every student

A mentor, a coordinator and a class group for quick help.

Five-star hotel internships

We help students get internships and check on every trainee.

A campus built for this course
